

EDUCATORS IN CHINA: BEIJING-XIAN-SHANGHAI

August 5, 2009

Exchange opportunity for American and Chinese educators including observation, interaction and lecture

It is a fascinating time to experience the social climate in China. Discover the rapid changes the country has undergone on its quest for economic modernization. The Study Leader's curriculum encourages and supports a different frame for education in which problem solving, experiential learning and collaboration are key elements. To gain a unique firsthand perspective, tour participants will visit a primary school, secondary school and a university to see what the Chinese education experience is like. Explore the importance of Chinese culture and history by witnessing an acrobatic show and visiting the Shaanxi Provincial Historical museum as well as some of China's most sacred sites, including the Summer Palace and the Big Wild Goose Pagoda.

The Professional Development Course developed for this study tour provides an opportunity for educators to take what they have learned and experienced back to their classroom and approach the subject matter from a different more holistic perspective.
